Dear Dr. Frye:

I am delighted that you will be able to join us for the conference on Europe in the Eighties. The panel discussion that you will be joining is to begin at 2:00 on Friday afternoon, April 6th, although we hope that you can be present for the other sessions as well. As you can see from the attached conference agenda, Bob Osgood will review the meeting's findings and assess their implications for US-European relations during the remainder of the decade. As one of several panel members, you might limit your opening remarks to 10-15 minutes.

We will keep you informed of any changes in the program. As my associate, [] mentioned the Department of State will keep you advised of administrative details as the April date approaches.
